MANY SNAPPY BOUTS STAGED AT ANNUAL COMPETITION OF MCGILL BOXING CLUB

Excellent Contests in all Classes of the Boxing and Wrestling Looks Well for the Intercollegiate Contests

HEAVYWEIGHT BOXING ENDS QUICKLY

Many Even Contests were the Feature of the Assault-At-Arms Held by the McGill Boxing, Fencing and Wrestling Club

The annual assault-at-arms of the McGill Boxing, Wrestling, and Fencing Club was held in the Union on Saturday evening, before a large and appreciative audience.

The bouts were uniformly good, many being exceptionally fast. From the showing, McGill should have a good representation, both for boxing and for wrestling in nearly all the classes of the Inter-collegiate contest. Great keenness and good sportsmanship was shown by all the entries in the various classes, notably so in those bouts in which one of the competitors had a natural advantage over his opponent.

In the wrestling events, the bout between Tucker and McPhail was the feature. Both men were in good condition and were very evenly matched. A strenuous but cautious contest resulted, which ran to full time without either man securing a fall. The decision was a difficult one, but was given to Tucker who had adopted the more aggressive tactics.

In the boxing, an unfortunate accident to Crosley put an early finish to the principal event of the evening, and ended what would have been a close and even encounter. The decision was accordingly given to Hugh Jones. As far as it went the bout was a very fast one, both men being hard fighters.

In the 135 pound class, the referee was called upon to give his decision, as the judges disagreed. He awarded it to Mais whose fighting throughout had displayed more skill and cool-headedness than that of Cooper, despite the latter's hard blows, which he had several times landed on his adversary.

THE BOUTS.

It had been expected that Audette and Davies, old time rivals, would meet in the 125 pound class, wrestling, but the latter was unable to make the weight and contented himself with carrying off the honors in the 135 pound class, which he did by securing two straight falls over Ramsay in 4 minutes each.

In the twenty-five pound class Audette's experience stood him in good stead, enabling him to defeat his opponent by two straight falls in 1½ and 4 minutes respectively.

In the forty-five wrestling, Ford took the aggressive against Montgomery from the commencement, securing his first fall in 2½ minutes. The latter was then more cautious, succeeding in keeping Ford off for the remainder of the time, Ford thus winning.

SACRED MUSIC WELL PLAYED BY UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA TO APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE

Successful Debut of McGill's Latest Organization Augurs well for Future of the Orchestra

STANDING ROOM ONLY AND HARDLY THAT

Two Solos by Miss Bessie Carruthers in Addition to Several Orchestral Selections

To much praise can not be given to the University Orchestra for the excellence of their concert given yesterday in the Union. There was a large audience assembled to hear the music and all appeared to be highly delighted. The University Orchestra is one of the youngest of the McGill organizations, but it is rapidly becoming one of the most popular. The concert was advertised to begin at 3.45 and by that time the Union Hall was filled to overflowing. A large number of ladies were present.

The first number on the programme was a march from "Blessing the Standard" and was played by the entire orchestra. It was very well rendered and was received with loud applause.

Miss Bessie Carruthers now gave a soprano solo, entitled "I Will Lay Me Down." Miss Carruthers is a soloist at St. Paul's Church and has a very sweet voice. Her two solos were both admirably rendered and delighted the audience exceedingly.

The third number on the program was undoubtedly the finest of the whole concert. Dvorak Humoreske is a very well known piece and was handled in a very masterly manner by the orchestra. They seemed to have caught the light airy spirit of the piece. This number was greeted with long and prolonged applause.

The Cello Solo by Mr. Lamontagne was the next number. The "Andante Religioso" is one of the finest solos for the cello, and Mr. Lamontagne certainly played it very well.

After another solo by Miss Carruthers, the Orchestra gave a dashing piece, entitled "Lustspiel." This piece was just the kind in which the Orchestra seem to show up best, as there was lots of life in it and also a fine part for the brass instruments.

The next two numbers were "Ave Maria" by the Orchestra, and "Good Night Beloved" played by a brass sextette. After the high standard of excellence set by the pieces earlier on the programme, both these numbers seemed a trifle disappointing, especially the "Ave Maria". It must be remembered, however, that the "Ave Maria" was one of the most difficult pieces played. However, the last number quite made up for all that, for it was played in a manner that delighted even the sternest of critics. The selection was "The Heavens are Telling" and is part of Hayden's "Creation".

The McGill Orchestra certainly achieved a great success. Not only was the playing excellent, but the whole concert went off with an amount of vim and enthusiasm rarely seen in amateur performance. The McGill Orchestra certainly deserve the highest praise, both for their pains in getting up the concert and for their excellent playing.

Friday night's game was very clean—not a man being ruled off on either side. Jack Marshall gave perfect satisfaction to both teams and had his eyes open for everything.

Brock scored no less than twenty-one out of the twenty-five points scored by the Varsity basketball team. He is a wonderful shot, and improves every year, this being his third year on the team.

There is still a chance for a three-cornered tie in the hockey league and McGill is not all together out. The players realize this and will practice hard in preparation for the game with Queens in Kingston.

The way Billy Wilson, our diminutive centre, bodied the heavy Toronto players into the boards was remarkable. Billy, for his size and weight, is very adept with the body check.

Editorials

From time to time throughout the year we have published editorials with regard to getting men to apply for positions on the Editorial Staff of the Daily. At no time were there anything like enough applications received; and, as a result, we have been severely handicapped all year for want of workers.

It is now time to prepare for next year and with this object in view we wish to announce that applications for positions will now be considered. Next year's staff will need about twelve new men and all those who wish to try for these positions should apply at the Daily office between the hours of five and six any afternoon this week.

Candidates will be given assignments of different kinds and the try outs will last for three weeks. If the Daily is to be a success it is essential that there should be a large and capable staff. The only way to secure this object is to train men to fill the various positions and this cannot be accomplished unless men will offer their services in the good cause.

The Daily has now passed the experimental stage and it is possible for us to build for the future. Next year it will be placed in the hands of six capable editors and the result should be a paper second to none on the continent. If these men are to produce such a paper assistance is essential and the more experience their assistants have the better for the Daily, the undergraduates and McGill University.

There are some 486 College publications on the continent. Among all these there are only twenty dailies; the most recent of which is our own paper. You have the only College Daily in Canada, and it will in all probability be a long time before the undergraduates of Toronto undertake to publish one. That we are capable of doing it at McGill is something to be proud of. It is for you to keep up the good work. Come Forward!

The coming of Miss Horniman's theatrical company is being looked forward to with the greatest interest by many and the fact that her stay will be a protracted one is a cause for congratulation. Montreal is being particularly favored this year in having visits from both the Irish Players and Miss Horniman's company.

The coming of Miss Horniman's theatrical company well-known to all to necessitate more than a passing reference to them. Many of us were fortunate enough to have heard her address to the Canadian Club at this University last year; the majority of us have read appreciatively the many articles published concerning her work, while the excellence of her company made a notable impression, not only upon McGill men but upon Montrealers generally.

Additional interest attaches to the first week of Miss Horniman's visit in view of the fact that the proceeds are to be devoted to the University Settlement. The work of this non sectarian organization which is so closely connected with McGill is all too little realized by the student body. In spite of the fact that many undergraduates participate in the work, the exact nature of it is not generally understood or its great usefulness appreciated.

The usefulness of the institution as outlined by Prof. Dale is of three kinds, as follows:

(1) Its help to the citizens of to-morrow, in making the best of their surrounding and their education, in teaching the meaning of wholesome recreation and high ideals.

(2) Its help the workers who are able not only to get the education that comes of helping those less fortunate than themselves, but also to learn the real conditions of life in Montreal, and the real civic problems.

(3) Its help to the civic authorities and social workers in general by keeping in touch with the best social work elsewhere. To take only one small example, it has just persuaded the city to have Dufferin Square flooded, which will provide many hours of healthy happiness to very many children.

That Miss Horniman, and her capable company, strangers in our midst, should realize this and should come forward so generously in support of the institution reflects the greatest credit upon them. Let us all do our part in the good work and attend any performances we can in the first week. This is one way of helping in a very good work.

ATTENTION, BARBADIANS

1st Feb. 1913.
Take heed to what your superiors have to say! The proud and haughty men of the most noble Island of Jamaica, do hereby and forthwith challenge the unworthy representatives of that small and unseemly blotch on the face of the map spoken of as Barbadosers to a game of hockey on that circumscribed area, known as the campus rink, at any date suitable to ourselves. We do hereby warn you that if you respond to our gracious condescension by deciding to play, we will show you no mercy and will assuredly make you lick the ice (the only thing you are capable of licking) — thereby cooling the hot air for which you are so rightly esteemed.

It will, indeed, be a case of 'Barbadosers is behind you'—away behind!
Yours tropically
"JAMAICA."

There was a class game played on the campus rink Saturday afternoon between Med. '16 and Med. '17. The latter won out by a very large score and as far as the Daily reporter was able to follow it the score was something like 18 or 19 to one.

THE UNDERGRADUATES OF LAW HELD SUCCESSFUL BANQUET AT FREEMAN'S ON SATURDAY

Annual Dinner Proved a Pronounced Success in Every Way and there were Many Excellent Speeches Made

HON. C. J. DOHERTY WAS THE GUEST OF HONOUR

There were Many Guests and About Sixty Students Present

The Law Dinner, which was held at Freeman's Hotel last evening was a highly successful and pleasant affair. The guest of honour of the evening was the Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice. The other guests were: Hon. Mr. Justice Davidson, Dean Moyses, Dean Walton, Messrs J. L. Archambault, K.C., and R. C. Smith, K.C., Professors, Mignault, and McGregor, Messrs. McDermott, (Harvard), Sanetot (Laval, Montreal), Champout (Laval, Quebec), Johnson, (Bishops), F. Common, (Arts), F. S. Jackson, (Science), H. C. Dixon (Medicine) and Richardson (McDonald College). There were about sixty students present.

Principal Peterson was unavoidably kept away by a business engagement, and there would have been representatives from Yale, Pennsylvania, and Columbia had not their sessional examinations occurred at this time.

As to the dinner itself it can only be said that the abundance of good cheer and flow of good liquor were only equalled by the abundance of wit and flow of eloquence which were to follow. Some idea of it may be gained by reading the menu, but only those who were lucky enough to be present can really appreciate its merit. The management of this part of the entertainment was ably looked after by Mr. J. M. Shaw.

Hon. C. J. Doherty then proposed the health of the chairman, and with a few remarks from Professor Mignault and Mr. Gouin the evening came to an end.

The Minister of Justice arrived at about 9.30 and was received with the singing of "For he's a jolly good fellow."

After the Kings health had been duly proposed by the chairman. The first toast was that of "Our Guest," was proposed by Mr. McNaughton, who reminded his hearers that Mr. Doherty was a McGill graduate and former McGill Professor. The Minister of Justice in his response referred very pleasantly to the time when he was a professor at McGill and spoke of the great work which young lawyers had before them. The future of the country was in the hands of its young men and in a special way in the hands of its young lawyers. He spoke of the high tradition of the Bar in Canada and told his audience that such traditions need a great deal of living up to. Mr. Doherty concluded in speech with wishes for the prosperity of all present.

The president then read some letters regretting their inability to be present from Hon. R. L. Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Lieutenant Governor of the Province, Sir Lomer Gouin, and Principal Peterson.

Mr. A. K. Huggessen proposed the Alma Mater in his apt manner and in the absence of Principal Peterson, Dean Moyses responded. Dean Moyses spoke of the prosperous condition of the University at the present day and of the successful campaign of last year. He also touched on the McDonald Travelling scholarship and spoke of the expectations for a splendid reunion of McGill men next year.

Mr. McDougall proposed the Bench as Mr. Elder was not present. Judge Davidson replied and reined his hearers of the necessity of hard work as an element in success at the Bar.

To the toast of the "Faculty" proposed by Mr. Herschoff, Dean Walton responded in a witty style. He also spoke of the lack of Notaries and reminded the students of the useful work to be done in that profession.

Mr. Lyndale proposed the Bar and Mr. Archambault, Batonnier of the Quebec responded. He spoke of his prize of 4500 which he had offered for young barristers of five years standing and which had not yet been competed for. Mr. Smith, B.C. replied for the Bar. His speech was very witty and replete with anecdote.

Mr. J. C. Creelman of the Junior Bar also made a few remarks.

Mr. R. Moyses proposed the Sister Universities and said that this was the first time a Law Dinner at McGill had had a representative from a University in the United States.

Mr. McDermott of Harvard responded. He spoke of the Reciprocity of good fellowship which existed between American and Canadian College men, and of the high opinion of McGill which was entertained in Colleges in the United States. The Graduating Class was proposed by Mr. Dixon and responded to by Mr. Burke, the chairman.

THE MCGILL JUNIORS LOST TO HUNTINGDON BY SCORE OF 2 TO 0

Ice was in Bad Shape for Fast Hockey

Huntingdon defeated the McGill III eptette in the Arena Saturday afternoon, Feb. 1st, last by the score of 2 to 0. The play was very ragged owing to the poor condition of the ice. No score was registered during the first half, the play being very even. In the second half Huntingdon had a little the better of the play and, as a result, succeeded in reaching the twine twice.

Those starting for McGill were: N. Williamson, F. McGill, Graham and de Muth.

The line up was as follows.

MCGILL SWIMMERS TRIP TO THE STATES MOST ENJOYABLE

Members of the Swimming Club executive, when interviewed yesterday by a Daily reporter, all expressed themselves to the effect that the recent trip to the States had been a most enjoyable one. They received most hospitable treatment wherever they went and every courtesy was extended to them by the American students.

In Philadelphia they were introduced to Dr. Tait MacKenzie, a famous McGill graduate, who gave them a hearty welcome to the Quaker City. He did everything in his power to contribute to the enjoyment of their stay. In addition to acting as an

ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE

There are few national institutions of more value and interest to the country than the Royal Military College of Canada. Notwithstanding this, its object and the work it is accomplishing are not sufficiently understood by the general public.

The College is a Government institution designed primarily for the purpose of giving instruction in all branches of military science to officers and Cadets of the Canadian Militia. In fact it corresponds to Woolwich and Sandhurst.

The Commandant and Military instructors are all officers on the active list of the Imperial army, lent for the purpose, and there is in addition a complete staff of professors for the civil subjects which form such an important part of the College course. Medical attendance is also provided.

Whilst the College is organized on a strictly military basis the cadets receive practical and scientific training in subjects essential to a sound modern education.

The course includes a thorough grounding in Mathematics, Civil Engineering, Surveying, Physics, Chemistry, French and English.

The strict discipline maintained at the College is one of the most valuable features of the course, and, in addition, the constant practice of gymnastics, drills and outdoor exercises of all kinds, ensures health and excellent physical condition.

Commissions in all branches of the Imperial service and Canadian Permanent force are offered annually.

The diploma of graduates is considered by the authorities conducting the examinations for Dominion Land Surveyor to be equivalent to a university degree, and by the regulations of the Law Society of Ontario, it obtains the same exemptions as a B.A. degree.

The length of the course is three years, in three terms of 91 months each.

The total cost of the course, including board, uniform, instructional material, and all extras, is about $800.

The annual competitive examination for admission to the College, takes place in May of each year, at the headquarters of the several military districts.

For full particulars regarding this examination, and for any other information, application should be made to the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa, Ont., or to the Commandant, Royal Military College Kingston, Ont.

official at their meet with Pennsylvania he looked after Patterson when the latter injured his neck. His kindness will remain long in the memories of the members.

While in Philadelphia, the suggestion was made that McGill should enter the American Intercollegiate Union, and take part in meets with the various universities across the border. This was merely an informal offer and ever if made through the regular official channels it is very doubtful if the McGill Club would be able to accept as the expense would be very heavy.

THINGS THEATRICAL

VISIT ON SATURDAY TO THE G.T.R. SHOPS VERY INTERESTING

On Saturday afternoon about 25 members of the Railway Club invaded the wilds of Pointe St. Charles, and had a look over the G. T. R. shops.

The day was bitterly cold, as everybody knows, and the streets of the Pointe were anything but attractive with such a gale blowing.

The Grand Trunk shops are not nearly so large as those of the C.P.R. at Angus, but the liberal use of whitewash and green paint—which is absent almost entirely from the Canadian Pacific works—makes them much more attractive and undoubtedly more pleasant to work in.

The wheel shop and machine shops were first gone through. Of course, being Saturday afternoon there were no men there which in a way rather detracted from the interest of the thing.

The erecting shop, which is of the transverse type, was inspected and criticized. This presented a fine opportunity to compare the relative advantages of the longitudinal and transverse shops.

The small rolling mill next proved a curious sight. It is here that the scrap is bunched up and rolled into various stock shapes.

The Grey Iron Foundry and Power House were then visited and great interest taken in the 'Notice to Visitors' posted by the engineer of the power house. Everything looked very nice in its coat of red and green paint.

The car shops next claimed the attention of the party, but they were not particularly interesting as there was very little doing.

Taken all around these shops are not much from a visitor's point of view, but in spite of their very small size, they afford a fairly good opportunity of comparing ways and means of handling material.

MANY SHAPPY BOUTS

Three boxing bouts were then staged.

In the Novices class, for which there were four entries, Cumming and Spencer secured victories over Ruskin and Bradley respectively. The work was somewhat rough, hard hitting being the tactics adopted, with the result that the winners, who had to meet later, were somewhat exhausted for the final.

The bout between Mals and Cooper was an excellent exhibition of skill and staying power. Cooper had the advantage in reach and of a style of boxing which at first puzzled his adversary. For the first two rounds Mals was but in the third he assumed the aggressive. The judges were unable to agree and the referee gave the bout to Mals.

In the 158 pound wrestling which followed, McPhail and Tucker were very evenly matched. For the first six minutes it was give and take, first one being on the defensive then the other. For the remainder of the time however Tucker was continuously on the aggressive, and was on this account given the decision, both men being unable to secure a fall.

In the heavyweight wrestling Routhwaite had to give away over thirty pounds to McLean, and this proved too big a task for him.

Routhwaite put up an extraordinarily good fight, however, obtaining one fall, which was as much as his adversary could obtain. In the last few minutes, however, McLean was on the aggressive, and was therefore awarded the decision, after a contest the result of which was in doubt up to the last minute.

In the 125 pound class Montgomery outclassed McIntosh, securing a decision on two rounds, the referee wisely deciding not to allow the bout to run to a finish.

The bout between Crossley and Hugh Jones, the most anxiously awaited event of the programme then followed. Both men failed to make a very fine one. They received a cordial invitation to come again next year.

The Brookline A.C. have the fastest team in the Eastern States outside of New York. They have a forty-yard tank with sea water. The relay race was therefore 160 yards.

Altogether the trip was a most enjoyable and successful one and the men all hope to be able to take another one next year.

HIS MAJESTY'S

It may be of interest to college men to know that among the members of the Pollard Australian Juvenile Opera Company which revisits Montreal next week, there are many representatives of college life in the far Antipodes. Ernest Chester, Business Manager of the company is a King's College, Melbourne, medal holder, while Frank Chester and Willie Pollard have likewise decorations in the matter of sporting events and along literary lines Norman Pierce has been the recipient of many honors. Mr. Chester who is in town in advance of his attraction, states that athletics is regarded as highly in Australia as in Canada and is inclined to believe that his country is a bit more enthusiastic in regard to sporting events. Recently on the Pacific coast a member of the Pollard Company left Seattle for Vancouver, B.C., on a midnight boat on a Friday night and on Saturday morning swam in several events at English Bay, capturing two gold medals and clipping one record; returning to Seattle for an opening performance on Sunday afternoon.

Swimming is especially delighted in by Australian College men, says Mr. Chester, although all forms of sport are indulged in and some prime athletes are trained and brought to the front through the Australian College athletic associations.

The 158 pounds and it was agreed to meet at 162. The first round opened quietly, both men waiting for an opening. Crossley found an opening and ran Jones round the ring. The latter appeared dazed by the speed made by Crossley, but succeeded in holding his own, on the defensive. Crossley landed a number of pretty blows, his upper cuts being especially effective, he however failed to really find his man. Jones, who takes any amount of punishment, worked for an opening, feinted with his left, and landed Crossley a heavy blow on the jaw with his right. The latter went down, and the referee commenced counting. At the third count Crossley came to a kneeling position and at nine had staggered to his feet. It was then seen that he had suffered some injury other than that caused by the blow, he had in fact sprained his ankle by going over on it, against the side of the ring. He could hardly stand, and the referee decided to stop the contest, and in consequence awarded the decision to Jones. Crossley was very game, and wished to continue, but the referee's decision was a wise one. It was a great pity that a really excellent bout should have come to an end so early.

The final of the Novices Competition then took place. Spencer and Cumming were left in and an excellent, and even bout resulted. Cumming had the advantage of a longer reach but Spencer was more experienced. All rounds were of the give and take variety, but the last one was somewhat slower than the previous ones, both men haking already boxed in two contests. Spencer was given the decision. Both men showed great promise and should make very useful material for the future. Spencer's style is excellent and he takes any amount of knocking about without showing it, especially in his face, which would require a steam hammer to damage it.

The last item on the programme was a fencing bout between Lacock and Wilkinson. The latter was out by 5 to 0, a score which exaggerates the difference between the men.

The meeting was most successful in every way, and all those who took part and helped in other ways are to be congratulated, on the result of their efforts. Our thanks are especially due to those gentlemen who so kindly consented to act as officials and whose decisions throughout gave universal satisfaction.
